Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on August 2, 2000.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, August 2, 2000.

If you are ever in the area, stop in to see us! Of course, it's best to call first. Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. reserves the right to refuse any ridiculous bids.

40. CIMMERIAN BOSPORUS, PHARNACES II; 63-47 BC, AU Stater, Year 245=53/52 BC, 8.12g. Sear (Greek Imperials)-5408. Obv: Diademed portrait of Pharnaces r. with long curly hair. Our coin is a new specimen from their die combination 5, pl. 2.5, previously known only from a coin in a Russian private collection published in 1887. Pharnaces had betrayed his father, Mithradates VI the Great, to Pompey in the final Mithradatic War and was rewarded for his treachery with a Bosporan kingdom. After invading Asia Minor during the civil war between Julius Caesar and Pompey, he was defeated by Caesar at the battle of Zela in 47 BC. Caesar's victory was so sudden and complete that it prompted his famous dictum 'Veni, vidi, vici' (I came, I saw, I conquered). Exquisite portrait struck on a broad flan. MS ..... 16500

Journal of Num. 3-4, 1992, pp. 42-6, records 54 gold staters of Asander, five with the rank of archon and 49 as king. Our coin appears to be only the second known of his regnal year 7. The chronology of Asander's reign is uncertain: his first year has been assigned to a number of dates between 50/49 or 49/48 BC (W. Leschhorn, Antike Aeren, 1993, pp. 45-51) and 44/43 BC (Nawotka, pp. 40-2). One of the best recorded portraits of Asander. Wonderful MS.....SOLD

Bastien, Monnayage d'or au nom de Maxime a Constantinople, Cercle d'Etudes Numismatiques, Buttetin 20/3, 1983, 51-5 This extremely rare solidus struck for Magnus Maximus in Constantinople and indicating four not three emperors by the four G's of AVGGGG on the reverse, proves that for a short time Theodosius I and his colleagues Valentinian II and Arcadius recognized the usurper Maximus as their legitimate co-emperor. An equally rare bronze coin, RIC-83d, was also struck for Maximus at Constantinople. This remarkable coin shows, as we say, that for a brief time Theodosius, Valentinian and Arcadius recognized Magnus Maximus as their equal. This is what Carausius was trying to accomplish when he issued his Frates sui coins depicting himself side by side with Diocletian and Maximianus Hercules. This is one of only three gold coins in existence that prove this political event took place. VF ..... 18000

Rx: SALVS REI PVBLICAE C Leo I and Leo II seated facing, cross and star in field above them, CONOB in exergue. The meaning of the isolated C at the end of the reverse legend is uncertain: see Kent, RIC p.103. It can hardly refer to Leo II as Caesar, since the type depicts him as already wearing the crown of an Augustus. NFA XVII Part II, April 1987, no. 613 comments: "The junior emperor, shown to right of Leo on the reverse, is usually identified as Leo's grandson, Leo II, who was raised to the rank of Augustus in the latter part of 473. However, the figure of the junior emperor is not as diminutive as one would expect for a child-emperor. A more plausible interpretation would be that the slightly shorter figure represents the western emperor Anthemius, and that this rare issue was struck to commemorate his appointment by Leo to the vacant western throne in 467. Anthemius' own coinage in the west also depicts the two emperors, symbolizing the unity of the eastern and western governments". MS. Extremely rare ..... 8000

Obv: Head of Athena three-quarter face to r., wearing triple crested helmet decorated with sphinxes Rx: Owl stg. r., head facing; crescent behind. Sigeion, located near the entrance to the Hellespont, was probably an Athenian colony and possessed a temple of Athena. The types of Sigeion's very rare silver coinage are unmistakably Athenian, but the remarkable, nearly facing head in crested helmet is the artistic descendant of the renowned Syracusan tetradrachm of Eukleides, of the previous century. An incomplete search has turned up the examples cited above. Our specimen is clearly superior in style, relief and preservation to any of those. The sphinx decoration on Athena's helmet seems not to have been previously noticed. In addition, our coin is nearly 15% heavier than the average of c. 2.77g, an unusual anomaly for the fastidious Greek mint masters. Extremely rare; possibly the finest known example. Extremely rare and interesting coin. Black patination from the earth. MS ..... 7500

296. CILICIA, KELENDERIS; 400-350 BC, Double Siglos or Stater, 9.91g. SNG Cop-82. The early issues of Kelenderis, such as this, are quite exceptional. This is the best example that we have handled. The boy on the rx is leaping off of his horse as part of a games event. The first half is on horseback; the second half was a foot race. The boy's legs and the back end of the horse are slightly indented from double striking, which was responsible for the beautiful image of the goat on the obv. 321. PHOENICIA, SIDON BA'LSHALLIM II; 388/7-372 BC, 4-shekel, Year 15=373/2 BC, 28.15g. Obv-Galley left over waves, Phoenician "B" above.

- Rx-King of Persia in chariot left with driver, King of Sidon in Egyptian-style garments carrying cultic scepter and vase follows chariot; date above. Most of the 4-shekel coins of this king are undated; indeed until recently the only dated specimen known was BM-25 with Year 14. Two further specimens with Year 14, however, plus the unpublished dates Year 13, Year 15 (4 spec.), and Year 16 (2 spec.), appeared in the Triton II Sale, December 1998, lots 496-9 and 1370-1. Our coin is the fifth recorded with Year 15, the new date. The same reverse die, with an additional stroke added to the date, was apparently also used to strike the coin of Year 16 in Triton II, lot 1370 (photo erroneously joined to lot 1371), the middle coin in the top row. The reign of this king can thus be seen to have lasted at least 16 years, not 14 as had been assumed before. John W. Betlyon, ANS Museum Notes 21, 1976, has tentatively identified this king "B" with the second of two King Ba'lsallims mentioned on a recently discovered statue base from Sidon. Assuming that he died in 372 BC (since his successor issued coins dated Years 1-13 before joining the revolt of the satraps in c. 359/8 BC), the evidence of the new coins forces us to move back the beginning of Ba'lsallim's reign from 386/5 to 388/7 BC. Though usually called octadrachms or double shekels, these heavy Sidonian silver coins in fact seem to be four-shekel pieces according to Kraay, Archaic and Classical Greek Coins, p. 288 note 4. 400. SEPTIMIUS SEVERUS; 193-211 AD, Denarius, Rome, 206 AD, 2.70g. BM-343, C-253 (60 Fr.). Rx: LAETITIA TEMPORVM The spina of the Circus Maximus decorated as a ship facing l., with the turning posts at its prow and stern, a sail mounted on the central obelisk, and the spina's other monuments visible in between; above the ship, four quadrigas racing l.; below, seven animals: an ostrich at l. and bear (indistinct on this specimen) at r.; between them a lion and a lioness chasing a wild ass and a panther attacking a bison. Rare: only three specimens in Reka Devnia hoard. This famous type commemorates the chariot races and animal hunt that took place on the seventh and final day of Severus' Saecular Games in 204 AD, as described in the inscriptional acts of those games which were found in Rome in the 1870s and 1930s. According to the acts, after three days of sacrifices and three days of honorary stage shows, Severus and Caracalla held circus games on the seventh day, consisting of chariot races and then a hunt of 700 beasts, 100 each of "lions, lionesses, panthers,

- bears, bison, wild asses, ostriches". Dio Cassius describes the same hunt, adding the detail that the cage from which the animals were discharged was formed like a boat: "The entire receptacle in the theater had been fashioned in the shape of a boat and was capable of receiving or discharging four hundred beasts at once; and then, as it suddenly fell apart, there came rushing forth bears, lionesses, panthers, lions, ostriches, wild asses, bison, so that 700 beasts in all, both wild and domesticated, at one and the same time were seen running about and were slaughtered. For to correspond with the duration of the festival, which lasted seven days, the number of the animals was also seven times one hundred." In Dio's text this passage follows directly on his account of Severus' Decennalian Games in 202 AD, causing scholars to accuse Dio of misdating the hunt or to postulate that similar hunts of 700 animals were held both in 202 and in 204. But the true explanation, in my opinion, is that Dio's Byzantine epitomator Xiphilinus, on whom we are dependent for this section of Dio's text, has simply jumped without warning or transition from Dio's description of the Decennalian Games of 202 to his description of the circus spectacle concluding the Saecular Games of 204. This hypothesis easily explains why Dio's text as we have it makes no mention of the Saecular Games themselves or of any event of 203: Xiphilinus omitted this whole section of Dio's history! The seven kinds of animals named by both Dio and the inscriptional acts are also depicted in the coin type: on good specimens, especially the aureus BM pl. 34.4, the ostrich and the bear are clear, the lion has a mane, the ass has long ears, the bison has horns and a hump. Two large felines remain, of which we may suppose that the one accompanying the lion is the lioness and the one attacking the bison is the panther. The animals are named somewhat differently in Cohen, BMC, and other numismatic works: though numismatists have long cited Dio's text to explain the coin type, no one previously seems to have posed the question whether the seven animals in the lower part of the type might not be the same seven that Dio and now the inscriptional acts too name! These circus games with the ship and 700 animals were held in 204 AD, but the coin type commemorating them did not appear until two years later: on aurei of Septimius the type is die linked to a dated type of 206 AD, and for Caracalla the type passes from a draped and cuirassed obverse type on the aureus to the "head only" type on his denarii, a transition that took place in 206 AD according to his dated coins. Coins of Divus Victorinus are rare: indeed ten times as rare as coins of Laelian to judge from the Cunetio hoard, which contained 39 Laelians but only four Divus Victorinus! It is not surprising that Tetricus I deified Victorinus and struck coins for him, since Tetricus I's accession is said to have been arranged by Victorinus' mother Victorina. The PROVIDENTIA AVG reverse dies for the coinage of Divus Victorinus were presumably taken over from the coinage of Victorinus himself: PROVIDENTIA AVG was the latest reverse type of Victorinus as emperor (Cunetio Hoard-2577), and the type was not struck for Tetricus I or II. This is a case where Hieronymos has put his likeness in the place of the god Ares. Not only that, but as Hieronymos is wearing sideburns, we know this is after he made his alliance with Hannibal, since he abandoned the practice of Hellenistic portraits for realistic ones. These showed him wearing sideburns, a style change where he imitated Hannibal who wore sideburns. This coin seems to be unrecorded. Cornelius Palma, Trajan's governor of Syria, conquered Arabia Petrea, comprising the Sinai Peninsula and parts of present-day Jordan, in 105 or 106 AD. The mysterious pointed bundle of rods held by Arabia, possibly representing balsam canes which were grown there, is particularly clear on our specimen. Beautiful blue-green patination. This coin commemorates Trajan's short-lived capture of Armenia and Mesopotamia, the moment of the Roman Empire's greatest territorial expansion. Green patination. 588. HADRIAN; 117-138 AD, Sestertius, Rome, c. 132 AD, 27.51g. C-576 (50 Fr.), BM-1681 note, Glasgow-593 pl. 41 (same dies). Rx: EXERCITVS MAVRETANICVS S C Hadrian on horseback r. addressing four soldiers standing I.; the first soldier holds a legionary eagle, the second and third hold standards, and the fourth holds a vexillum. Very rare, like all "Army" sestertii of Hadrian. The one Mauretanian Army sestertius in the Berk photo file is from the same dies as ours, but much poorer (Ars Classica 17, 1934, Evans, 1404). This variant with four soldiers on the reverse seems rarer than that with only three soldiers and was not in the British Museum collection by 1976. Hadrian's Army coins are one class of his Travel series and commemorate his visits to various legionary and auxiliary camps during his two great voyages around the empire. Good VF. Very rare and highly desirable in that it commemorates one of the armies of Hadrian. 8000

Rx: CONS[ECRAT]IO S C Eagle standing r., head I. Very rare. Strack cites nine specimens in museums, plus two illustrated in publications, both of which are from the same dies as ours (J. Schulman 1923, Vierordt 1397 and Bernhart, Handbuch, pl. 51,3). The BM specimen is "much worn" and is therefore not illustrated in BMC. Extremely rare. EF ..... 8000
591. GORDIAN I AFRICANUS; 238 AD, Sestertius, 20.63g. BM-5. C-6(70 Fr., citing BM. Magnificent. Wonderful portrait of Gordian Africanus. Beautifully done and sensitively modeled. The double striking on the rx probably accounts for the exquisite quality of the portrait. One of the two best Gordian Africanus sestertii we've handled in 36 years. MS ..... 9500

595. MAXIMIANUS HERCULIUS; 286-305 AD, Billon tetradrachm, Alexandria, Egypt, 5.45g. J. Vogt, Die Alexandrinischen Muenzen, p. 227 (2 spec. in Berlin); not in Dattari, Cologne, or the other standard catalogues. Rx: ICIC Isis standing I. wearing crown of towers and holding sistrum and scepter. The same issue also included a larger denomination, with radiate not laureate head of Maximian on obverse and reverse Bust of Serapis with legend "Serapis the Savior": see the new complete catalogue of the Dattari collection, Trieste 1999, pl. 285, 10692-3. These very rare coins were probably Maximian's last "provincial" coinage at Alexandria, immediately preceding the provincial coinage of Domitianus Domitianus which was also struck in a smaller denomination with laureate portrait and a larger denomination with radiate portrait. Not only the two denominations, but also the fine style of these coins, their reverse legends describing the types, and their omission of a regnal date set them apart from the normal Alexandrian coinage of the First Tetrarchy. We thank Dr. W.E. Metcalf of the American Numismatic Society for referring us to J. Vogt's discussion of this issue. About EF/EF ..... 3500

Rx: Value mark Delta=4 flanked by A and P. Very rare: only ten specimens known to Metcalf. This is one of the rarest of all Byzantine coins. Only ten are recorded by Metcalf. 607. EXQUISITE STATUETTE OF PAN

Material: Orichalcum

Height: 19.8 cm

Provenance: Found at Viminacium in the 1890s

Preservation: Exceptionally fine

Date: Late first-early second century A.D., copying a lost Greek original of the Hellenistic period.

Pan stands on a pedum (shepherd's crook made from an animal's leg) holding a wine amphora on his shoulder. The figure of Pan has been expertly chased to define sharply and in wonderful style the details of Pan's horns, hair, face and other anatomical details. The exceptional preservation of the statuette allows full appreciation of the style and quality of the workmanship. The statuette is made of orichalcum, a high zinc bronze of golden color, used in imperial coins and, chiefly in the Balkans, employed for statuettes of exceptional quality. An attachment emerges from Pan's back, indicating that the statuette was originally connected to a background of some sort, perhaps as part of a group of several figures. Such figures were often used on large chests that held plate and other precious items in rich houses.

As customary in the 1890s, the statuette was cleaned to its original surface, though some original smooth red encrustation remains. It has subsequently toned a rich mahogany brown.....
